

How to manage ignition without camphor

The unaltered passing on of Agnihotra is very close to our hearts. Camphor is not an ingredient in Agnihotra; we have used this till now merely as fire lighters in an "emergency", for example in a performance during high winds. But now it is used by many in every Agnihotra, sometimes in very high quantities whereby Agnihotra is being altered. How you can get the cow dung to burn well even without camphor, please see below:

Warm the ghee until it is liquid.

Break or cut the cow dung in small pieces (ca. 2-3 cm).

Dip these quickly in the liquid ghee and drain.

One can also create a small stock of prepared pieces (do not close the container, otherwise an unpleasant odour may develop).

Perform Agnihotra with these pieces as usual, if necessary use a windshield outside.

We are pleased to be available at Homa-Hof for further questions.
We wish you great joy with Agnihotra
